INTEGRATED SYSTEM SOLUTIONS

C-130 TRANSPORT

MODERNIZATION, INTEGRATED AROUND YOUR MISSION

Astronautics provides proven avionics and system integration for C-130 upgrades, combining our equipment with customer-selected and partner systems

With over 25 years of successful, global C-130 experience, Astronautics works with its customers to define and integrate upgrade solutions matched to aircraft configuration and mission needs.

We provide avionics such as flight deck displays, engine data concentrator units, mission computers, electronic flight bags, standby instruments, and in-flight connectivity. We then integrate compatible communications, navigation, and autopilot systems from other suppliers. Our team coordinates interfaces and system verification to bring the selected equipment together as a cohesive and complete system solution.

Astronautics' proven, turnkey system solutions leverage our highly reliable avionics smart displays at the core of each system. From initial concept to production, Astronautics works collaboratively with our customers to:

- Customize system solutions that interface and integrate with subsystems from other manufacturers.
- Provide a full line of TSO-authorized, baseline products that can be modified to meet specific user and airworthiness requirements.
- Ensure that subsystems seamlessly interface with each other by verifying the functionality in an onsite System Integration Lab (SIL) prior to ground and flight test.
- Deliver a complete solution that solves tough challenges like:
  - Extending aircraft service life by addressing obsolescence.
  - Upgrading to fully digital cockpits that enhance situational awareness and add mission capabilities.
  - Adding connectivity to improve operational efficiency and enabling wireless, air-to-ground communication.
